Nothing Forever Lasts.

Comfort first, heart—this much at least is true:
Nothing forever lasts, and this thy pain,
Even as thy joy is gone, will leave thee,
And
Nothing remain.

Of all this grief that is so near and new,
Nothing remain.

Though as the wayside dust to her art thou,
Christen not envy of thy rivals state;
Till some day be with him as with thee now;

None to be great
More than a moment the high gods allow.

The brightest candle only shines till day
Puts out the stars and candles of the night;

Be happy little moth; burn whilst thou mayest;
Her little light,
Ere thou art ashes, will have quenched its ray.

What though thy lot be bitter as the sea,
Make no complaint; or, be thy fortune fair,
Give thou no thanks—soon both alike will be.

And, wherefore care,
What on life's page is writ—for who shall see?

In gold upon the mansion of the sky,
The stars write this last word for us below;

"The good deeds of kind hearts will never die,
All else will go,
With the spent candle and the butterfly,"

—Richard Le Gallienne's translation
From Divan of Hafiz.

WEDDINGS OF THE WEEK.

An interesting wedding of Tuesday was that of Miss Lucy Armstrong Clementine Hughes, daughter of ex-Sheriff and Mrs. John T. Hughes, to Mr. Wilbur Nash Watkins. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of the bride, No. 312 North Twenty-ninth Street, the Rev. Dr. W. E. Evans, of Monumental Church, officiating.

Decorations were in palms and cut flowers to carry out the scheme of white and green. Miss Hattie C. Hughes, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore a chic costume of tan silk. Her flowers were white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. D. G. Baker, of Matthews county, and Mrs. L. C. Fowler, of Norfolk, were matrons of honor. Their costumes were of blue silk, and they carried maiden-hair fans.

Dr. Bernard V. McCray was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. James Moncure Bland, of King and Queen county; W. J. Tignor, of Newport News; B. F. Tinsley and O. P. Grady, of Richmond.

Little Master William McCaw Hughes, brother of the bride, carried the ring.

The bride wore a handsome traveling suit of grey with hat and gloves to correspond and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Watkins left for a Northern tour, and will be at home after December 1st at No. 10 East Franklin street.

Among the out of town friends present at the wedding were: Mrs. Dabney G. Baker, of Matthews county; Mrs. Lewis Fowler, of Norfolk; Miss Alma Bland, of King and Queen county; Miss Lena Down, of Matthews county; and Mrs. Ada Marston, of West Point, Va.

Donovan-Carpenter.

An event of much social interest is the marriage of Miss Eloise Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chivers Carpenter, to Mr. Bernard Pay Donovan, which will take place in the home of the bride's parents, at Clifton Forge, Va., at 9 o'clock this evening. The Rev. W. Gaston, of Clifton Forge, will perform the ceremony.

The house will be elaborately decorated with palms and ferns and pink and white carnations. Boxes of candy will be festooned around the improvised altar, and candles in silver candelabra will furnish the illumination.

Mrs. W. D. Baker will sing "Beauty's Eyes" before the entrance of the bride party, and she will also sing the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as a processional, accompanied by Miss Ella Smith.

The two little ribbon girls, Misses Jennie Sneed and Stuart Pettus, will enter first, wearing dainty frocks of white erogan with white ribbons. Then will come the ring-bearer, Miss Caroline Pettus, also in white, and carrying the ring on a white velvet cushion.

Next will come the maid of honor, Miss Ellen Carpenter, sister of the bride, and following her the bride will enter with her father, and will be met at the altar by the groom, Mr. John Donovan, Jr.

which the bride is a member, will be passed. The bride and groom will also try their fortune with the old Nuremberg loving cup. The young couple will leave on the midnight train for a tour of the northern cities.

Inscription on the Monument OF A Newfoundland Dog.

By LORD BYRON.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch have already been printed in this series.

WHEN some proud son of man returns to earth,
Unknown to glory, but upheld by birth,
The sculptor's art exhausts the pomp of woe,
And storied urns record who rests below;
When all is done, upon the tomb is seen,
Not what he was, but what he should have been;
But the poor dog, in life the firmest friend,
The first to welcome, foremost to defend,
Whose honest heart is still his master's own,
Who labors, fights, lives, breathes for him alone,
Unhonored falls, unnoticed all his worth,
Denied in heaven the soul he held on earth;
While man, vain insect! hopes to be forgiven,
And claims himself a sole exclusive heaven.
O man! thou feeble tenant of an hour,
Debased by slavery, or corrupted by power,
Who knows thee well must quit thee with disgust,
Degraded mass of animated dust!
Thy love is lust, thy friendship all a cheat,
Thy smiles hypocrisy, thy words deceit;
By nature vile, ennobled but by name,
Each kindred brute might bid thee blush for shame.
Ye! who perchance behold this simple urn,
Pass on—it honors none you wish to mourn:
To mark a friend's remains these stones arise;
I never knew but one—and here he lies.

Donovan-Carpenter.

An event of much social interest is the marriage of Miss Eloise Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chivers Carpenter, to Mr. Bernard Pay Donovan, which will take place in the home of the bride's parents, at Clifton Forge, Va., at 9 o'clock this evening. The Rev. W. Gaston, of Clifton Forge, will perform the ceremony.

The house will be elaborately decorated with palms and ferns and pink and white carnations. Boxes of candy will be festooned around the improvised altar, and candles in silver candelabra will furnish the illumination.

Mrs. W. D. Baker will sing "Beauty's Eyes" before the entrance of the bride party, and she will also sing the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as a processional, accompanied by Miss Ella Smith.

The two little ribbon girls, Misses Jennie Sneed and Stuart Pettus, will enter first, wearing dainty frocks of white erogan with white ribbons. Then will come the ring-bearer, Miss Caroline Pettus, also in white, and carrying the ring on a white velvet cushion.

Next will come the maid of honor, Miss Ellen Carpenter, sister of the bride, and following her the bride will enter with her father, and will be met at the altar by the groom, Mr. John Donovan, Jr.
